

THE TIMES.

PUBLISHED BY THE TIMES COMPANY, AT 901 EAST MAIN STREET,
RICHMOND, VA.

THE TIMES--CITY DELIVERY.
Delivered in any part of the city and Man-sidered to be at 12 cents per week.

Persons desiring the TIMES delivered at their homes can send it by telephone No. 549.
When delivery is irregular immediate complaint should be made to the office. The address may be changed as often as Congressman Butterworth on the occasion to which we have referred.

BY MAIL, POSTAGE PREPAID.
DAILY, $1.00

1 year, $3.00
6 months, $1.50
3 months, $0.75
1 month, $0.30

WEEKLY, $1.00

6 months, $0.75
3 months, $0.38
1 month, $0.19

RECOMMENDATIONS will not be returned.

Entered at the Richmond (Va.) postoffice as second-class matter.

Special contracts will be furnished on application.

Auction Sales, Legal Notices and Announcements $1 per tract each insertion.

Reading notices in reading-matter type, 15 cents per line. Nonpareil lead, 12 cents per line.

Remittances should be made by drafts, checks, post-office orders, or registered letter, payable to

THE TIMES COMPANY,
Richmond, Va.

THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1890.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS.

The news published elsewhere in THE TIMES this morning that the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, with a membership of nearly fifteen hundred, representing all parts of the country, has accepted an invitation to hold its annual meeting in Richmond next November, will be very gratifying to the hundreds of manufacturers who have enjoyed for years the unrivaled advantages which Richmond possesses as a manufacturing centre.

Now, right here, Richmond manufacturers, is your chance. Of course, no better place could be had for holding the meeting than Richmond, the capital of a state which is rapidly taking the front in the developing of the manufacturing interests of this country, and a city containing in itself many large and small manufacturing industries.

A study of the list of members of the Society, which has for its objects the promotion of the arts and sciences connected with engineering and mechanical construction, shows that they represent the manufacturing industries of this country, as there is scarcely a prominent name that does not appear. To bring them to Richmond will enable them to note the manifold advantages of the city for manufacturing purposes. It can give the industries already established a new impetus, resulting in the starting of new ones and influence the whole Commonwealth for good.

RAILROAD DISCRIMINATION.

A letter was published in THE TIMES yesterday from Beaver Dam, Hanover county, complaining of the inconvenience caused to the citizens of that locality by the discontinuance of the "accommodation" on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. Our correspondent writes that the present time, on that railroad makes it necessary for people to sit up all night, unless they take the only train on the road, and which arrives here at 3 P. M., while the accommodation is run only to Hanover Junction or "Bothwell." Our correspondent also asks the Chamber of Commerce to endeavor to rectify this trouble, as the discontinuance of the accommodation is a source of much loss to Richmond in local trade.

The Chamber is giving careful consideration to this matter, not only as regards the Chesapeake and Ohio, but other railroads whose schedules discriminate against Richmond. It is to be hoped, however, that, now, that their attention has been called to the matter, the railroads centering in this city will themselves rearrange their schedules so that there may be no further conplaint.

BUTTERWORTH ON THE TARIFF.

At this time, when the Republican members of Congress are so strongly disposed to sink all private differences of opinion, and obey the general orders of the party leaders, however repugnant to their individual wishes and feelings, it is both surprising and refreshing to come upon such a representative as General Butterworth, of Ohio, who is as distinguished for his candor and boldness as for his ability and political experience. In the tariff discussion that took place in the House on Tuesday, he did not hesitate to assert, while severely criticizing the details of the McKinley bill, that he disapproved of the protective principle to the protective system, he declared, it was in its oscillation between the extreme of free trade, on the one hand, and, on the other, the extreme which created inequalities among Americans themselves. Such unequalities were essentially unjust, and as such unworthy of American institutions.

The Ohio Congressman pointed out in the most forcible way that the schedules of the McKinley bill had been drawn in accordance with the suggestions of men who would derive a special benefit from the increased duties imposed, and who were bent exclusively upon advancing their own interests, however directly these interests might conflict with the interests of the people at large. Well might the distinguished Congressman ask, "Why was Paul Foyard and Peter turned down?" Why increase the profits of certain classes? These were capitalists whose profits had exceeded those of all the agriculturists in any State of the Union. Protection! Why, the country can in such cases better afford to keep these men in the Fifth Avenue hotel, pay their board and expenses, and set them up in the banking business. He favored proper protection, but these men held the world in their grip."

As an instance of the gross inequalities of the protective system as now in operation, General Butterworth dwelt at length on the tax imposed on the plate under the terms of the McKinley bill, a tax that would have to amount to at least $6,000,000 before the manufacturers of that article could be in a position to declare a dividend. The time has come, he finally exclaimed, when some little concern should be shown to American homes and American firesides, and this sentiment so honorable in the mouth of a Republican Congressman at this moment, when the party to which he belongs is about to enact the most unconscionable legislation on the tariff, will find an echo in the hearts of the American people in general.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their interests shall not be subordinated to the interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the willing and ready instruments of the grinning monopolists, and the protests of such a man as General Butterworth, however distinguished, able and estimable, their course of action is determined upon, and there is no inducement that can cause them to depart from it. From all parts of the United States the Republican organs are urging that the McKinley bill shall be passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their interests shall not be subordinated to the interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the willing and ready instruments of the grinning monopolists, and the protests of such a man as General Butterworth, however distinguished, able and estimable,

Their course of action is determined upon, and there is no inducement that can cause them to depart from it. From all parts of the United States the Republican organs are urging that the McKinley bill shall be passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their interests shall not be subordinated to the interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the

willing and ready instruments of the grinn-

ing monopolists, and the protests of

such a man as General Butterworth, how-
ever distinguished, able and estimable,

Their course of action is determined upon,

and there is no inducement that can cause them to depart from it. From all parts of the United States the Republican organs

are urging that the McKinley bill shall be passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their

interests shall not be subordinated to the

interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the

willing and ready instruments of the grinn-

ing monopolists, and the protests of

such a man as General Butterworth, how-
ever distinguished, able and estimable,

Their course of action is determined upon,

and there is no inducement that can cause

them to depart from it. From all parts of

the United States the Republican organs

are urging that the McKinley bill shall be

passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their

interests shall not be subordinated to the

interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the

willing and ready instruments of the grinn-

ing monopolists, and the protests of

such a man as General Butterworth, how-
ever distinguished, able and estimable,

Their course of action is determined upon,

and there is no inducement that can cause

them to depart from it. From all parts of

the United States the Republican organs

are urging that the McKinley bill shall be

passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their

interests shall not be subordinated to the

interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the

willing and ready instruments of the grinn-

ing monopolists, and the protests of

such a man as General Butterworth, how-
ever distinguished, able and estimable,

Their course of action is determined upon,

and there is no inducement that can cause

them to depart from it. From all parts of

the United States the Republican organs

are urging that the McKinley bill shall be

passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their

interests shall not be subordinated to the

interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the

willing and ready instruments of the grinn-

ing monopolists, and the protests of

such a man as General Butterworth, how-
ever distinguished, able and estimable,

Their course of action is determined upon,

and there is no inducement that can cause

them to depart from it. From all parts of

the United States the Republican organs

are urging that the McKinley bill shall be

passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their

interests shall not be subordinated to the

interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the

willing and ready instruments of the grinn-

ing monopolists, and the protests of

such a man as General Butterworth, how-
ever distinguished, able and estimable,

Their course of action is determined upon,

and there is no inducement that can cause

them to depart from it. From all parts of

the United States the Republican organs

are urging that the McKinley bill shall be

passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their

interests shall not be subordinated to the

interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the

willing and ready instruments of the grinn-

ing monopolists, and the protests of

such a man as General Butterworth, how-
ever distinguished, able and estimable,

Their course of action is determined upon,

and there is no inducement that can cause

them to depart from it. From all parts of

the United States the Republican organs

are urging that the McKinley bill shall be

passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their

interests shall not be subordinated to the

interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the

willing and ready instruments of the grinn-

ing monopolists, and the protests of

such a man as General Butterworth, how-
ever distinguished, able and estimable,

Their course of action is determined upon,

and there is no inducement that can cause

them to depart from it. From all parts of

the United States the Republican organs

are urging that the McKinley bill shall be

passed quickly, and without material modifications, and this demand finds a sympathetic response in the breasts of a Republican Congressman.

The time has indeed come when the American people should insist that their

interests shall not be subordinated to the interests of a body of men who are seeking to advance themselves at any cost. Nothing was to be expected of the present Republican majority in Congress. They are but the